SOME IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS

Mr. Ira Dilworth.

WE extend our hearty congratulations to Mr. Ira Dilworth upon his appointment as Associate Professor of English on the staff of the University of British Columbia. Mr. Dilworth, as is generally known, has had a brilliant scholastic career and has long been regarded as one of the outstanding educationists of British Columbia. His appointment to the Principalship of Victoria High School at a comparatively early age was a signal recognition of his great ability, and the success which he has achieved in this position throughout the years of his administration has fulfilled to the uttermost the high opinions held concerning him.

He is a man of many parts. In addition to his recognized talents as a student and teacher he is also a gifted musician, and an excellent speaker, with a reputation extending far beyond the confines of the province.

For several years Mr. Dilworth has been a prominent member of the Executive of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation and was President of the organization for the two years 1931 and 1932. While in this office he gave greatly of his time and talents in the interests of education, and did much to inspire the teaching profession to the highest ideals of efficiency. He worthily upheld the finest traditions of the real teacher and won general commendation, not only from his colleagues, but from the public generally for the ease of manner in which he carried out his many duties.

He represented the British Columbia teachers at several Dominion conferences, including the one held at Toronto this summer, and on every occasion added much to the success of the meetings by his valuable and practical contributions to the various questions under discussion.

Fortunately, Mr. Dilworth's services are not lost to the province nor to the teaching profession. While he is transferring to new fields—for which he is so eminently fitted—we know that he will always retain a vital interest in the public schools of the province, and that his valuable co-operation in all progressive movements will be cheerfully given upon all occasions.

We are confident that Mr. Dilworth will be happy and successful in his professional work and that his future will be marked by a continuance of that distinction which has already been so deservedly accorded to him in the past.

We again express our sincere appreciation of his great services to the Federation and, on behalf of all members, assure him of our earnest good wishes.

Dr. H. R. Anderson.

One of the many important changes which have taken place in teaching personnel this year is the appointment of Dr. H. R. Anderson to the staff of the Victoria Normal School. Miss Anderson's remarkable success in the teaching profession of British Columbia is well known, and a summary was given in our magazine recently when she was the chosen recipient of the Fergusson Memorial Award for outstanding merit.

Since the organization of the Federation she has been one of its most loyal and active supporters, having served several years on the Executive Committee. She has also held the office of President of the Provincial Parent Teachers' Federation.

She is an excellent speaker and has been much in demand at educational and public meetings in the province.

She has shown particular interest in the rural teacher and was the "Rural Department" Editor of the B. C. Teacher.

We feel sure that she will have a bright future in her new field of work and that she will prove to be an inspiration to the many students who will come under her charge.

We know that her services will always be available in the support of any movement for the advancement of education, and particularly for those things which concern the welfare of the teacher and the pupil.

While we shall miss greatly her active association with the Federation and especially with the Magazine, yet we feel that her promotion is a well deserved and merited one and we wish her every possible success in her new work.

✿ The President's Message ✿

FOR the teachers of British Columbia the new Federation year will introduce many important problems. Your Executive Committee will have serious responsibilities, and the support, therefore, of all members is earnestly solicited. It will be essential that geographical areas, districts, and local associations hold meetings in order that reports of progress may be disseminated.

The consummation of the plan for professional membership must receive complete attention. Arising from the recommendations of the Educational Finance Enquiry there will be topics which will require the careful consideration of all teachers. Constructive measures advanced at the Canadian Teachers' Federation conference, and the establishment of a statistical and research bureau in educational matters for the Dominion will demand the co-operation of British Columbia teachers. Many other important questions need immediate investigation through the medium of research. May one pressing feature be mentioned? What contribution will the British Columbia Teachers' Federation be prepared to offer towards curriculum reconstruction.

You asked for a "President's Message," Mr. Editor, but as I have been in harness for the past four months, I cannot suggest any other theme than that of impressing upon the teachers the necessity for whole-hearted support in facing the problems of the current year. What will the reports be at the Easter Convention, 1935?

Remember that your Federation is yourselves, and that you are responsible for its status.

I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing a very sincere tribute to our late President, Mr. C. L. Thornber, whose work last year was so ably done, and whose progressive policy advanced so creditably the cause of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

—JAMES R. MITCHELL.

In Memoriam

MR. J. M. CAMPBELL

IN the passing of Mr. J. M. Campbell, the province has lost one of its best known and most highly respected educational pioneers. For over thirty years he was engaged in the teaching service of

MR. J. M. CAMPBELL

British Columbia, his first school being at Cadboro Bay, near Victoria, to which city he moved in 1898, being placed on the staff of the North Ward School. In 1902 he was transferred to the Boys' Central School, but in 1908 earned a well merited promotion to the principalship of North Ward School, a post he held for twenty-two years prior to his retirement from the active ranks of the profession in 1930.

Thousands of students who came under his care and guidance found in him a practical, kindly, and sympathetic friend in whom they placed the utmost confidence, and it is not surprising that his former students, so many of whom have now reached adult years and occupy important and prominent positions in the public and business life of the province, have always spoken of him with affection and have delighted in honoring him on every possible occasion. He was intensely human, and the problems of his fellow men were always of supreme interest to him. The common man,—the working man,—were of special concern to him, and it was a happy circumstance to him that so many of his pupils were drawn from working class homes. It was with pardonable and commendable pride that he saw these pupils attain such high achievements and distinctions in the educational world, purely on the basis of merit, hard work and perseverance, as he had himself done in his own youth.

Upon his retirement in 1930 he fulfilled a life-long ambition by a four months' tour of Europe, visiting family relatives in Scotland. When he returned he threw himself into active participation in public affairs. He was elected by a large vote to the School Board on his first bid for public office and, after two years, was re-elected with a handsome majority. His death leaves a vacancy on the present School Board. As might be expected, he made a most excellent trustee, and through his practical knowledge of school affairs, made distinct contributions to the progress of public education.

To the Federation Mr. Campbell's loss is very great, particularly to those charter members with whom he was associated in the early days of the Federation's history. From the commencement he was most enthusiastic in his support of the new organization, and gave freely of his time and energy in ensuring its successful progress. He was for several years a member of the Executive, and at differing times held the offices of Vice-President and Chairman of the Finance Committee. A fact, known to few, indicates very concretely his possession of one of the highest and rarest human qualities, namely, personal self-sacrifice in the common interests of a cause. Following his year as Vice-President he was the logical and desired choice for elevation to the Presidency. When approached with regard to his nomination, however, he declined what he acknowledged would be a much coveted honor on the grounds that owing to the critical nature of many important issues at that time it would be in the interests of the teachers generally if a President were elected from the Lower Mainland, where so many of the teachers were engaged. At the Annual Meeting he refused to have his name considered, but asked for the privilege of himself nominating a Vancouver teacher, who was thereupon unanimously elected as President.

The high esteem with which the Federation regarded Mr. Campbell was typified by his unanimous election as the third Life Member of the Federation by the Annual Meeting held in Vancouver in 1926.

At the funeral service in Victoria the Rev. Dr. Sipprell concluded a remarkable tribute by the simple but eloquent words, "He was a good man," and with this opinion all who knew him would sincerely agree.

Mr. Campbell's two sons occupy prominent positions in the educational service of the province, while two of his brothers, now retired, were also teachers for many years in British Columbia. To these and other members of his family we tender our deepest sympathy.

In Memoriam

MR. ALEX. FINLAYSON

TEACHERS throughout the province generally, and in Vancouver particularly, received with deep regret the news of the unexpected death of Mr. Alex. Finlayson, Principal of Quilchena School, Vancouver, following a brief illness.

Mr. Finlayson, who was 48 years old, was a native of Glasgow, where he taught previous to coming to Vancouver in 1911. He was appointed as Vice-Principal of Lord Nelson School and afterwards served in a similar capacity at Kerrisdale and Magee schools before his promotion to the Principalship of Quilchena School.

He served overseas with the 72nd Battalion, Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, from September, 1915, to February, 1919, and was wounded in 1918.

Mr. Finlayson was one of the early members of the Federation and in recent years he took a very active part in the work of teachers' organizations. His outstanding ability brought recognition from his colleagues by his appointment as Secretary of the Vancouver Principals' Association and, as a result of his success in this position, he was later appointed to the important office of Secretary of the Vancouver Teachers' Council. In this latter connection his duties were arduous owing to the many meetings and conferences in which the Teachers' Council was involved during the year as a result of the difficulties of school financing.

He was a man of action rather than words. His contributions to a discussion were marked by directness and brevity, and his recorded minutes and reports bore out this valuable characteristic by their concise nature. He had a fine personality and was held in high regard by all who came in contact with him. He was a most efficient Principal and was deservedly popular with his pupils and his staff.

The passing of a colleague is an occasion of sorrow even when it occurs at the end of a long, full and largely completed career, but it is yet more poignant when one in the middle span of life is called away from his labours at an age which is generally associated with hopes and ambitions and an increasingly useful service to his fellow men. Such events, owing to our earthly limitations, constitute one of life's mysteries and can only be reconciled by faith that in the Infinite Wisdom of the Divine plan "all things work together for good".

The high esteem in which Mr. Finlayson was held was fittingly evidenced by the large number of friends who were present at the funeral service and by the beautiful floral tributes.

He is survived by his wife, a son, a sister, and his parents in Glasgow, and to all we extend our very sincere sympathy in their irreparable loss.

Highlights of the Summer News

THE Liberal Party scored a double victory on June 19, when it was returned to power with a complete rout of the Conservative governments in both Ontario and Saskatchewan. In the former case Premier Hepburn's supporters secured 65 out of 90 seats, while in the Prairie province the Gardiner Government secured 49 out of 54 with a minority popular vote and the late government failed to secure a single seat.

An interesting sidelight on political changes in Ontario is the fact that a hunger-march into Toronto was permitted, demands of radical leaders listened to with apparent sympathy by the new premier, the demands refused as impossible, and the marchers given food by the Cabinet and a ride home in Government trucks.

* * * *

A booklet by Hon. H. H. Stevens, charging exploitation of Canadian producers and consumers by financial groups, was withdrawn from publication on August 4, but attempts of interested parties by means of newspaper agitation and other methods to have the Minister removed from chairmanship of a commission of inquiry, if not from the Government, failed. In Vancouver, on August 14, he indicated his chief hope for a removal of the evils he had criticized was that business men would adopt a higher code of ethics.

* * * *

In June an agreement was reached whereby the German exchange quota for imports from Argentina was increased by 10,000,000 reichsmarks. This, notes the "Winnipeg Free Press", is but another instance among many of late where European countries have switched their purchases of wheat from Canada to other countries because Canada declines to accept their goods in exchange.

The United States Senate Banking Committee, in a report issued August 5, declared methods used by investment bankers to induce people to invest hard-earned money in bonds which today are worthless or nearly so, were "scandalous," "shocking" and at times even "violative of the most elementary principles of business ethics." A on August 1, twenty-eight prominent financiers of Detroit were charged in Federal indictments with misapplication of funds, conspiracy, or making false entries in bank reports.

The Pacific Coast longshoremen's strike, which began on May 9, and assumed the proportions of a general strike in the San Francisco Bay area on July 14, ended July 30, the men going back to work on an arbitration agreement. Governor Olson established military rule in Minneapolis on July 26 owing to a truck-drivers' strike. A 12-day strike in Chicago stockyards ended August 5 with non-union men moving out and union men returning after an amicable settlement. Then on August 16 and 17 the United Textile Workers of America voted strikes involving 825,000 workers in the various textile trades.

The United States joined the International Labor Organization, August 20.

Frequent rumors of dissent within the ranks of the Nazi supporters and among the leaders were substantiated by the "purge" carried out by Hitler and Goering, beginning July 1, against radical supporters and conservative allies. Amongst the killed were ex-Chancellor Von Schleicher, Gregor Strasser, and Ernst Roehm, while Von Papen had to seek the protection of his old friend, President Von Hindenburg. According to Strasser's brother, Goering himself was to have been removed but was able to forestall Hitler through his secret police. The aged President congratulated Hitler on having "nipped revolution in the bud," but his protegee, Von Papen, had to resign the vice-chancellorship. Hitler declared on August 13 that 77 lives had been taken to suppress a revolt that would have killed tens of thousands. Goering went so far as to declare opposition to Hitler a worse offence than opposition to the State.

* * * * *

Repeated bombing terrors of Nazi origin in Austria culminated in an attempted coup in which Chancellor Dollfuss was killed on July 25. Major Fey, vice-chancellor, failed to have Dr. Rintelen, pro-Nazi, installed in the Chancellorship, the position being given instead to the Fascist, Schuschnigg. General alarm was felt in Europe that the plot was of German origin, and Mussolini massed troops on the border and declared he would brook no interference with Austria's "freedom". While disavowing any responsibility, the German government thought it necessary to decree the dissolution of Austrian Nazi headquarters in Munich and sent Von Papen as special envoy to Vienna to effect a conciliation. "Austria is completely in the hands of Mussolini," declared former Vice-Chancellor Winkler at Prague on August 30.

President Von Hindenburg died on the morning of August 2. Hitler immediately concentrated the functions of both President and Chancellor in his own hands and demanded an oath of personal allegiance from officers and men of army and navy. On the fifteenth a testament of the late President supporting Hitlerism was read, on the seventeenth the leader appealed to the whole nation for endorsement of his assumption of the double role, necessitated by foreign hostility to Germany and economic distress at home, and on the nineteenth received that endorsement by a majority less nearly unanimous than at the last referendum.

Plans for enlarging Britain's air-fleet by nearly 500 planes in five years because, according to the air minister, "disarmament is now a dead issue", were debated in the Commons on July 5, while on August 4 Earl Beatty declared Britain must "repudiate the shackles of the London treaty." Italy revealed plans for air force and naval expansion on August 2, with an appropriation of about $100,000,000 for the military air force in the next two years. Japan's military budget this year is 45 per cent of total expenditures and 75 per cent of normal budgetary receipts, yet next year it is to be increased by $30,000,000 for naval and air-force increases. On the other hand, a sharp reduction in naval air construction in the United States was announced August 1. And the Senate investigation committee, pursuant to the Nye resolution, has told the world what intelligent people already knew, that armament firms form an international ring to increase armaments in all countries and frustrate all pacific movements.

FALL CONVENTION

PLANs for the Fall Convention of the Central Vancouver Island Teachers' Institute, to be held in Nanaimo on October 11, 12 and 13, are now almost complete. Mr. C. H. Fisher, President of Washington State Normal School, will give two addresses, and sectional meetings will be in the hands of H. N. MacCorkindale, J. R. Mitchell, O. J. Thomas, E. W. Reid and a Primary Specialist.

Arrangements have been made for the Annual Banquet and a record attendance is anticipated from the district which extends from Campbell River to Duncan.

HER

Message to Canadian Teachers

MR. J. R. MacKAY, PRESIDENT OF CANADIAN TEACHERS' FEDERATION, MAKES IMPORTANT APPEAL

TO the Provincial Organizations of teachers throughout the Dominion of Canada, Greetings! Allow me first to express my thanks and appreciation to your representatives and, through them, to you, who have conferred upon me the very high honor of electing me the President of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. It is not an honor to be lightly given or lightly received, and I hope that I may prove worthy of the confidence you have reposed in me.

In common with other similar organizations the Canadian Teachers' Federation has found the going very difficult during the past few years. No Conference was held from 1931 to 1934 and very little work was undertaken. The Toronto Conference, just ended, was faced with the task of initiating activities that would permit the Dominion body to function more fully for the mutual benefit of its members and in accordance with the ideals of its founders. This was not an easy task. Three years of inactivity, at a time when the various Provincial Organizations, which comprise the Federation, were struggling to maintain themselves, was not a record to inspire confidence and it was felt by most of the delegates at Toronto that if some active policy of useful work was not initiated at once, the Canadian Teachers' Federation of Provincial Organizations was destined to an early dissolution.

Definite forward steps were taken as reports of the Conference will show, and decisions were made that will have a far-reaching effect on education in this Dominion. An Educational Research and Statistical Bureau was set up with its headquarters at Vancouver, in charge of a committee representing the various provinces, under the chairmanship of Mr. Harry Charlesworth. This bureau will compile information relative to outstanding educational problems, and the results of its work will be available on request to any of the affiliated organizations of the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Committees under the direction of the Central Committee will be set up in all provinces of Canada to investigate such problems as Educational Costs, Teachers' Salaries, School Administration, etc. This work should prove of inestimable value to the various provincial organizations and to the cause of education generally throughout the Dominion.

Publicity designed to bring home to the citizens of Canada the tremendous value of education will be undertaken and efforts will be made to combat the nation-wide anti-education campaign that has been going on. The importance of this cannot be over-stated.

THE B. C. TEACHER

Canadians must be made to realize that in the education of our youth lies the only real hope for the future of our country and that no educational system is too costly if it ensures a safe and sane development of our resources, both human and physical. If our system does not ensure that, it is utterly worthless and should be discarded and replaced by one that does. It is folly to complain of the cost of education when in education lies our only hope. Who ever considers the cost of the one remedy that will save his life?

A word to the individual member of our organization before I close. The Canadian Teachers' Federation boasts some 20,000 members, teaching in all grades and schools from Prince Edward Island to Vancouver Island. We are all alike in this that we desire the best for the boys and girls committed to our charge. We do not always recognize the best when we see it, however. Teachers are prone to become complacent and self-sufficient, not recognizing their own need of fellowship or their own duty of extending fellowship towards others. Fellow-teachers, we need one another to do our best work, and your teacher-organizations offer you the opportunity of both giving and receiving fellowship! You cannot afford not to be a member of your professional organization, and your organization cannot do its best work if you do not belong to it. For the sake of our pupils and of ourselves let us organize and give our best to our organizations.

A new feeling of optimism is abroad in our land as I write. Everywhere people are saying that the worst is past. The Canadian Teachers' Federation greets its members in that hope that the worst is past and that better days are ahead for our profession. We appeal to the Provincial Organizations for co-operation in our efforts that we may make definite progress in professional development in the years that lie ahead. We have far to go before our profession can secure the recognition which is its right as the noblest of all professions, but let us all work together that our next Conference may see our goal appreciably nearer.

Saskatoon, August 22, 1934.

The Fordson Junior High School Course in Social Studies

(By J. A. CREIGHTON)

PROMINENTLY mentioned among the courses of study examined in the recent National Survey of Secondary Education in the United States is the course in social studies in use in grades 7, 8 and 9 of the Fordson schools, Dearborn, Michigan. Because it was organized as recently as 1933, because it is a result of elaborate and scientific curriculum reconstruction, and, more particularly, because it is a product of the ultra-fusionist school of social scientists, this course should be of interest to social studies teachers of British Columbia.

Instead of consisting merely as an outline for teachers, the course is printed in detail in booklets to be used by the pupils. There are six of these booklets—one for each semester—and each is entitled "Social Science Directive Study Sheets." The booklets are bound in soft covers, all different in color. They average about 75 pages of the ordinary textbook size. Apparently they take the place of a regular textbook, in part at least, but an extensive list of other books is required in the classroom and in the school library. As the name indicates, they do not so much supply information as direct the research of the pupils.

The whole three-year course is divided into seven sections:

- Section I. —Some Tools of the Social Studies.
- Section II. —Man's Struggle for Knowledge of the World.
- Section III. —A Study of Our Growth and Resources.
- Section IV. —Other Countries as our Neighbors.
- Section V. —Vocational Civics.
- Section VI. —Our Government and How It Grew.
- Section VII. —Community Civics.

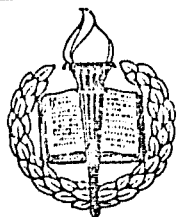

The subject matter of the various sections is organized on the unit basis rather than in problems. Section I is the shortest. It has only one unit and is covered in 20 days. This unit is divided as follows:

Part 1.—The New Social Studies (one day). The first paragraph in this part says:

"In many schools the work that you will have under the heading of social science is still being taught as history, geography and civics. The more progressive schools, however, are doing away with this division into subjects and are teaching what is known as social study, or social science. This work combines what used to be taught as history, geography and civics."

In this part the pupil is directed in the use of textbooks and

FRENCH WITHOUT TEARS WITH THE Linguaphone ^{ORAL AURAL VISUAL} Method

Teachers of French and other languages find in the Linguaphone Conversational Course an efficient and authentic auxiliary aid in language teaching. Linguaphone is a scientifically prepared, pedagogically-sound method of imparting foreign languages.

IN THE CLASSROOM

Use the tireless voice of the Linguaphone as a classroom aid to stimulate students by this novel method and to speed-up the oral and aural process of instruction. The unlimited and uniform repetition that Linguaphone makes possible saves irritation and frayed nerves of both teacher and pupil.

The LINGUAPHONE METHOD is used by over 12,000 schools and is endorsed and used by leading Canadian Universities and Schools.
"No school in which modern languages are taught ought to be without a Linguaphone Course."
(Signed) St. E. de Champ, B. es L., O.I.P.
University of Toronto.

"I have no hesitation in recommending highly the Linguaphone Method which was demonstrated in a school class to my entire satisfaction."
(Signed) Wilfrid Bovey, B.A., LL.B.,
McGill University.

Records used in the Linguaphone Method can be played on any make of phonograph. Free 32-page catalogue sent on request. (Please mention school, etc.)

library references, notebooks and scrapbooks, and is instructed in the work connected with reports and debates, projects, plays, committees, discussions, etc.

Part 2.—How to Make Use of the Library (5 days).

Part 3.—How to Make an Historical Frieze (2 days).

Part 4.—Charts and Graphs (6 days).

Part 5.—The Earth—Its Size and Shape (6 days).

Section II corresponds pretty closely with problem I of our Grade VII Junior High School Course in social studies. Besides dealing with the Age of Discovery, however, it devotes 4 days to a study of the general features of North America.

Section III in its first two units covers much the same ground as problems 2, 3 and 4 of our Grade VII course—Spanish-English rivalry, early colonization of America, and French-English rivalry. The end of unit 2 of section III marks the completion of the first semester of 86 days. There are 5 other units in the section and they take up the whole of the next semester. These deal with material on the United States which parallels that in our problems on Canada entitled How the West was explored and occupied; how Canada's transportation facilities were developed; how the vast prairies were settled and organized into provinces of the Dominion; and how Canada's industries and trade have expanded.

Section IV deals with the principal countries of the world. Seven days are devoted to Canada. The whole section requires 131 days.

Section V consists of 36 days' work given over entirely to a study of vocations.

Section VI takes up more than 1½ semesters of Grade 9—143 days in all. The section is devoted entirely to United States history.

Section VII consists of 31 days' work, at the end of Grade 9, on community civics.

For the purpose of securing brevity and clearness in attempting to classify the Fordson course it may be well to set down the types of social studies courses of all kinds. They may be listed as follows:

1. "Independent-parallel" courses, with history, civics, geography, economics, etc., organized as distinct subjects.
2. Courses having alternation of subjects—a term (or year) of geography, followed by a term of history, followed by economics, and so on.
3. Fusion Courses (of two main types)—
 - (a) A course having fusion of the units but not necessarily fusion within the units.
 - (b) A course having complete fusion within the unit as well as within the course.

It must be borne in mind also that the "out-and-out" fusionist insists on two principles being followed in the construction of a social studies course—

- (a) The selection of "functional" curriculum content, and
- (b) The life-like, unitary organization of that material for teaching purposes.

The Fordson course belongs to group III above. It is definitely a fusion course. Its authors—Harvey H. Lowrey and Ferris E. Lewis—have followed pretty closely the principles of the fusion theory. They have supplanted all the independent work previously done in geography, history, and civics, with a new course made by a selection of material from the entire social studies field. They have ignored traditional subject boundaries. Evidently they attempted to use in their course only such material as they believed had direct value in developing in pupils intelligent understandings and tolerant, co-operative appreciations fitting them to engage in the activities of the life of the time. They then endeavored to organize their material in units of experience corresponding as closely as possible to life situations.

It is not easy to say to what type of fusion the Fordson course belongs. In fact, it is a combination of the various fusion types. It very definitely has fusion of the units. In addition there is fusion within some of the units. Other units, however, are clearly "subject" units.

The course is not unlike the present Junior High School Social Studies Course in British Columbia. The subject matter covered parallels fairly closely that of our course. The type of fusion is also somewhat similar in the two courses. Probably the Fordson course is not as long as ours. Its distinctive feature, however, is to be found in the fact that it is organized in directive study sheets. Each pupil has his "job sheet," as it were, and goes to work pretty well "on his own."
